AUTISM SOCIETY

Since the 1970's, the Autism Society has been celebrating National Autism Awareness Month (NAAM) to highlight the growing need for concern and awareness about autism. The United States recognizes April as a special opportunity to educate the public about autism and issues within the autism community. April is National Autism Awareness Month and there are thousands of ways you can help support students with and without autism raise acceptance and awareness. We have compiled a list of ideas that we think might help teachers, administers and staff create a space of acceptance and support for students with autism. Please feel free to reach out to the Autism Society of Texas with any questions, concerns, or inquiries.

Awareness Ideas

Here is a basic list of awareness ideas that you can use to help spread awareness and acceptance of autism in your school:

- 1.) Post facts about autism on puzzle pieces around the school or talk about them in the morning announcements. You can find a list of Autism Society approved facts at: http://www.texasautismsociety.org/about-autism/
- 2.) Invite speakers to talk about autism. Speakers can be people on the spectrum, family members of individuals with autism or professionals in the field. Reach out to the Autism Society of Texas to see if we can support you.
- 3.) Ask classmates, friends and teachers to wear autism shirts to raise autism awareness on a particular day.
- 4.) Ask the School Library to set books about Autism out on display through April. See attached listed of book below!
- 5.) Show a movie about autism during lunch time! See attached list.

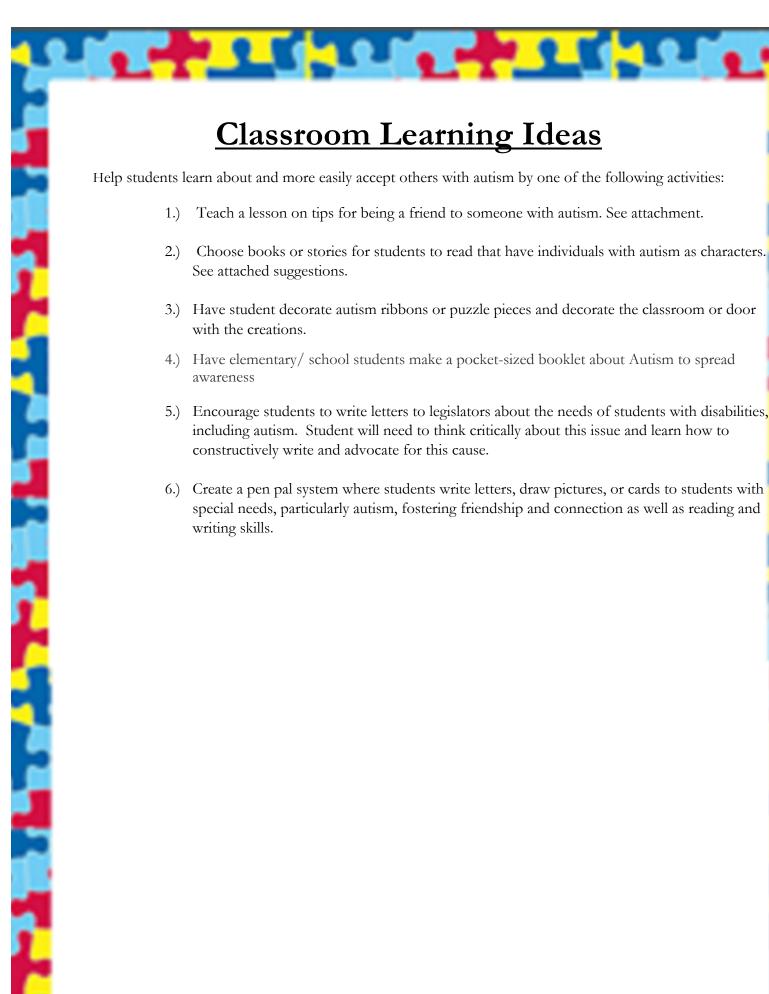

- 6.) Post ideas that students can do on puzzle pieces around the school. See attachment for ideas
- 7.) Create an Autism Awareness Ambassador Program http://www.autismnj.org/ambassador or club at your school to help raise money and spread awareness

Fundraising Ideas

Help raise financial support for the Autism Society of Texas by participating in one of the following activities:

1

- 1.) Create or join a team for our Annual Bike Ride and Fun Run at Georgetown High school on April 15th 2017 (go to autismbikeride.greatfeats.com for more information)
- 2.) Attend or volunteer at one of the other local events happening in April see attached calendar for ideas.
- 3.) Hold a bake sale and decorate food items with puzzle pieces or other symbols to represent acceptance and awareness.
- 4.) Hold a penny war. In a penny war, two or more groups (grades) compete to win a fundraising competition. Each group has a bucket for collecting coins or dollar bills. The value of any pennies collected by a group count positively toward that group's point total, while the value of other coins or dollar bills are subtracted. See which grade can raise the most.
- 5.) Hold a jean day. A Jean Day Fundraiser is when a school allows students to wear jeans to for one day and in return the students make a small donation (usually $5) to the Autism Society of Texas.
- 6.) Host a yard sale in the parking lot. Spring clean and sell your items at the same time, encourage families to participate and donate earnings to the Autism Society of Texas.

Tips for Being a Friend to a Student with Autism

Borrowed from The Autism Society of Akron

Understanding autism starts at a young age, and there is no greater place than the classroom to start. Understanding autism and how to interact with people with autism comes from being exposed to them, and being taught how to treat and talk to someone with autism. Children naturally want to be helpful. Give them that opportunity by encouraging them to be a buddy to someone with autism. It is up to teachers and parents to teach children about differences, acceptance, and understanding.

Here are some ideas on how to get started.

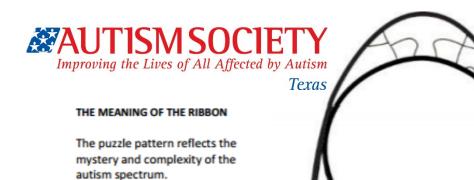

- People are born with autism and while they look just like you and me, autism changes the way their brain works.
- Some people with autism talk and others do not. Just because they cannot talk doesn't mean they don't have anything to say.
- Nobody knows what causes autism, but we do know that a person with autism will always have autism.
- Kids with autism are the same as other kids in a lot of ways. They like birthdays, swimming, and having friends.
- Being kind and compassionate is one of the best things you can do to help someone with autism.
- Here are a few ways to be a friend:
 - o Playing games they like to play.
 - o Talking to them like you would any other kid.
 - o Giving them a high five when you're having fun!
 - o Sitting next to them in the lunchroom.
 - o Visiting them at their house.
 - o Inviting them to your house.

- o Show them what to do so they can imitate you.
- o Being a buddy to them on the playground.
- o Walking with them to the next class.
- o Supporting them with kindness and understanding.
